REASONS FOR ALLOWANCE

1. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance: The Applicant claims a fuel cell system comprising a fuel cell, fuel gas supplying means, oxidizing agent gas supplying means, raw material gas supplying means, and a control means which controls fuel gas supplying means, oxidizing agent gas supplying means, and raw material gas supplying means wherein during starting of electricity generation of the fuel cell, raw material gas supplying means purges at least cathode side with raw material gas, in which sulfur compound is removed, before fuel gas supplying means and oxidizing agent gas supplying means supply fuel gas and oxidizing agent gas to fuel cell, wherein raw material gas comprises hydrogen and carbon. Applicant claims a method of starting a fuel cell system comprising purging step during starting of electricity generation of fuel cell, at least cathode side with a raw material gas to be used in production of fuel gas, in which a sulfur compound is removed, before fuel gas and oxidizing agent gas are supplied to fuel cell, wherein raw material gas comprises hydrogen and carbon.

Applicant has overcome the rejection(s) under 35 U.S.C. 112, 2nd paragraph, set forth in the Office action filed on 3/16/11.

In the prior art of record, Matsumoto et al (Akira et al) JP 62-190660, teach a fuel cell system wherein a natural gas in the oxidizing agent chamber is purged with a combustion gas during restarting. Jia et al., US 2003/0224226, teach a cathode exposed to a reductant.

Thus the prior art of record, taken either alone or in combination, fails to disclose or render obvious a fuel cell system having a raw material gas supplying means purges at least the cathode side with the raw material gas, in which a sulfur compound is removed; OR a method of starting a fuel cell system involving purging the cathode side with a raw material gas to be used in the production of the fuel gas, in which a sulfur compound is removed.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
